

A JOURNEY BACK IN TIME

More information about our Southern Fiord adventure to Preservation and Chalky Inlets

Travel through time to explore this raw, remote corner of Fiordland. Cloaked in history from the once thriving whaling and mining industries, this area tells remarkable stories. As the bush slowly reclaims the scars, there are some hidden treasures worth venturing beyond for.

The journey starts with a spectacular helicopter ride into this wild landscape. As usual, there is no set itinerary, we'll be guided by the moods of Mother Nature, however the key to this journey is to gain an insight into the past and to have a solid adventure along the way. There are many walks and stunning windswept beaches to wonder and marvel at, and of course there's plenty of water to leap into, kayak around or explore by snorkel.

Things you should know:

- The trip duration is for five nights/six days
- Accommodation onboard the Breaksea Girl
- All meals and helicopter transfers included
- Sea kayaking, wildlife viewing, walks ashore and for those of you who like to get wet; snorkelling and swimming. Tender craft (small boat) activities included.
- No specific experience is required, however good mobility is essential.

Your home in the wild:

The Breaksea Girl is a purpose built charter vessel, perfectly suited to cruising the fiords. She is a Buckeyed Ketch that sleeps twelve explorers in a mixture of configurations including double berths, bunks (two beds per compartment) and a quad-share bunk-style compartment. She has two flushing toilets, two great showers, a spacious viewing deck, open wheelhouse saloon, library, galley, glasshouse, beanbags to snuggle in with a good book and trusty diesel heater to get you warm and cosy after an epic day in the wild.

The creature comforts provided:

- Bed linen and towels provided
- All meals included
- Double sea kayaks, paddles, personal flotation devices, paddle jackets, sprayskirts
- Sunscreen and insect repellent
- Some other activity equipment is available to use such as snorkel, mask and paddleboard

What to bring:

With heli flights, we are limited to 120kg per person (including bags) so just be mindful about what you are bringing along. You don't need your entire wardrobe - just a set of adventure clothing and something to relax in on board. Below is a list which may help your process, then pack it all into a soft pack - so no suitcases!

- Swimsuit and underwear (wetsuit if you wish to spend more time in the water)
- Shoes and sandals for kayaking, walks ashore and for use on deck
- Waterproof jacket and pants
- Next to skin layers such as thermals and merino
- Warm top: fleece or down jacket
- Pair of long trousers and shorts
- Warm hat and sunhat
- Toiletries and personal medication
- Sunglasses
- Water bottle
- Camera
- Any specific activity equipment such as snorkelling equipment if desired ie mask, snorkel, fins, wetsuit (please refer to what is provided)
- Any treats you might like to bring along including your favourite wine or whisky. Beer cans are preferred over bottles for ease of transport and waste.

Departures:

All adventures start and end from the beautiful township of Te Anau, located approximately two hours from either Queenstown in the north or Invercargill in the south. Folks fly into either airport where it is easy to hire a vehicle or catch a bus (Tracknet) to Te Anau. We can help arrange a charter transfer for you if required.

The meeting point for Wild Fiordland adventures is 6 Speight Street, Te Anau. From here we convoy up to the Fiordland Helicopters hanger on the Milford Road. There is ample off street parking available.

Your specific helicopter departure time will be established closer to the date as this will be dictated by weather conditions. Due to the remoteness of Fiordland and the complexities of operating in such a location, it is highly recommended to spend a night in Te Anau or Manapouri prior to and following your departure date so you don't miss the boat so to speak!

These decisions are made in the interest of safety for our guests, crew and vessel, and are not taken lightly. They are not grounds for pricing alteration, discount, or compensation.
